(2) The LMHA will not charge the person the standard charge(s) for services if the LMHA makes a decision, based on a clinical determination that is documented and includes input from the person's team, that the person's failure to comply is related to the person's mental illness. The clinical determination must be reassessed at least every three months. If the LMHA decides that a person's failure to comply is related to the person's mental illness, then the LMHA must develop and implement a plan to reduce or eliminate the barriers related to the person's failure to comply.

§ 412.106. Determination of Ability to Pay

(a) Financial assessment. The LMHA must conduct and document a financial assessment for each person within the first 30 days of services. The LMHA must update each person's financial assessment at least annually and whenever a significant financial change (as defined) occurs as long as the person continues to receive services. The financial assessment is accomplished using the financial documentation listed in §412.105(d) of this title (relating to Accountability), which represents the finances of the:

- (1) person who is age 18 years or older and the person's spouse; or
- (2) parents of the person who is under age 18 years.

(b) Maximum monthly fee. a person's maximum monthly fee is based on the financial assessment and calculated using the Monthly Ability-To-Pay Fee Schedule, referenced as Exhibit a in §412.113 of this title (relating to Exhibit). The calculation is based on the number of family members and annual gross income, reduced by extraordinary expenses paid during the past 12 months or projected for the next 12 months. No other sliding scale is used.

(1) A maximum monthly fee that is greater than zero is established for persons who are determined as having an ability to pay. If two or more members of the same family are receiving services, then the maximum monthly fee is for the family.

(2) A maximum monthly fee of zero is established for persons who are determined as having an inability to pay.

(c) Third-party coverage.

(1) Third-party coverage that will pay. a person with third-party coverage that will pay for needed services is determined as having an ability to pay for those services.

(2) Third-party coverage that will not pay.

(A) If the person's third-party coverage will not pay for needed services because the LMHA does not have an approved provider on its network, then the LMHA will propose to refer the person to his/her third-party coverage to identify a provider for which the third-party coverage will pay unless:

(i) the LMHA is identified as being responsible for providing court-ordered outpatient services to the person;

(ii) the LMHA is able to negotiate adequate payment for services with the person's third-party coverage; or

(iii) the person (or parent) voluntarily agrees to pay the standard charge(s) for the needed service(s).

(B) If the LMHA proposes to refer the person to his/her third-party coverage as described in paragraph (2)(A) of this subsection, then the LMHA will provide written notification to the person (or parent) in accordance with § 412.109(e)(1) of this title (relating to Payments, Collections, and Non-payment), which provides an opportunity to appeal. The LMHA must also comply with § 412.109(e)(2) - (3) as initiated by the person (or parent).

(C) If the LMHA refers the person to his/her third-party coverage, then the LMHA will assist the person (or parent) in identifying a provider for which the third-party coverage will pay.

(D) If a person who has been referred to his/her third-party coverage is unable to identify or access needed services from an approved provider or if access will be unduly delayed, then the LMHA will:

(i) assist the person (or parent) in resolving the matter with the third-party coverage (e.g., contacting customer service at the third-party coverage, filing a complaint with the third-party coverage or the Texas Department of Insurance); and

(ii) if clinically indicated, ensure the provision of the needed services to the person pending resolution.

(E) The LMHA will maintain documentation of:

(i) all referrals as described in paragraph (2)(C) of this subsection;

(ii) all assistance as described in paragraph (2)(D) (i) of this subsection; and

(iii) whether the person received services pending resolution as described in paragraph (2)(D)(ii) of this subsection.

(d) Social Security work incentive provisions. a person who identified payment for specific needed services in his/her approved plan utilizing Social Security work incentive provisions (i.e., Plan to Achieve Self-Sufficiency; Impairment Related Work Expense) is determined as having an ability to pay for the specific services. Persons are not required to identify payment for any service for which they may be eligible as part of their approved plan for utilizing the Social Security work incentive provisions.

(e) Notification. After a financial assessment is conducted, the LMHA must provide written notification to the person (or parents) that includes:

(1) the determination of whether the person (or parent) has an ability or an inability to pay;

(2) a copy of the financial assessment form that is signed by the person (or parent) and a copy of the Monthly Ability-to-Pay Fee Schedule, with the applicable areas indicated (i.e., annual gross income, number of family members);

(3) the amount of the maximum monthly fee;

(4) the name and phone number of at least one LMHA staff who the person (or parent) may contact during office hours to discuss the information contained in the written notification; and

(5) a statement that the person (or parent) may voluntarily pay more than the maximum monthly fee.

§ 412.107. Standard Charges

Each LMHA must establish, at least annually, a reasonable standard charge for each community service as indicated in the performance contract. The standard charge must cover, at a minimum, the LMHA's cost of ensuring the provision of the service.

HISTORY: The provisions of this § 412.107 adopted to be effective September 1, 2002, 27 TexReg 2041; amended to be effective September 15, 2005, 30 TexReg 5806

§ 412.108. Billing Procedures

(a) Monthly account.

(1) The LMHA will maintain a monthly account for each person that lists all services provided to the person during the month and the standard charges for the services. Each service listed will indicate whether the service is:

(A) covered by Medicare third-party coverage;

(B) covered by non-Medicare third-party coverage;

(C) not covered by third-party coverage; or

(D) identified for payment in the person's approved plan utilizing Social Security work incentive provisions.

(2) If a person has exceeded the maximum third-party coverage benefit of a particular covered service, then that service is indicated as not covered by third-party coverage.

(b) Accessing funding sources. The LMHA must access all available funding sources before using the department's funds to pay for a person's services. Funding sources may include third-party coverage, state and/or local governmental agency funds (e.g., crime victims fund), Qualified Medicare Beneficiary (QMB) Program, indigent pharmaceutical programs, or a trust that provides for the person's healthcare and rehabilitative needs.

(c) Billing third-party coverage. The LMHA will bill the person's third-party coverage the monthly account amount for covered services. If the LMHA has negotiated a reimbursement amount with the third-party coverage that is different from the monthly account amount, then the LMHA may bill the third-party coverage the negotiated reimbursement amount for covered services.

(d) Billing the person (or parents).

(1) No third-party coverage. If the monthly account amount for services not covered by third-party coverage:

(A) exceeds the person's maximum monthly fee (MMF), then the amount is reduced to equal the MMF and the LMHA bills person (or parent) the MMF; or

(B) is less than the person's MMF, then the LMHA bills the person (or parent) the monthly account amount for services not covered by third-party coverage.

(2) Medicare third-party coverage. Nothing in this paragraph is intended to conflict with any applicable law, rule, or regulation with which a LMHA must comply.

(A) The following amounts are added to equal the total amount applied toward the person's MMF: (i) the amount of all applicable co-payments and co-insurance for services listed in the monthly account as covered by Medicare third-party coverage; (ii) the amount Medicare third-party coverage was billed but did not pay because the deductible hasn't been met; and (iii) the monthly account amount for services not covered by third-party coverage.

(B) If the total amount applied toward the person's MMF as described in paragraph (2)(A) of this subsection: (i) exceeds the person's MMF, then the amount is reduced to equal the MMF and the LMHA bills person (or parent) the MMF; or (ii) is less than the person's MMF, then the LMHA bills the person (or parent) the total amount applied toward the MMF.

(3) Non-Medicare third-party coverage.

(A) Cost-sharing exceeds MMF. If the amount of all applicable co-payments, co-insurance, and deductibles for services listed in the monthly account as covered by non-Medicare third-party coverage exceeds the person's MMF, then the LMHA bills the person (or parent) all applicable co-payments, co-insurance, and deductibles.

(B) Cost-sharing does not exceed MMF. (i) If the amount of all applicable co-payments, co-insurance, and deductibles for services listed in the monthly account as covered by non-Medicare third-party coverage does not exceed the person's MMF, then the following amounts are added to equal the total amount applied toward the person's MMF:

(I) the amount of all applicable co-payments, co-insurance, and deductibles; and

(II) the monthly account amount for services not covered by third-party coverage. (ii) If the total amount applied toward the person's MMF as described in paragraph (3)(B) of this subsection:

(I) exceeds the person's MMF, then the amount is reduced to equal the MMF and the LMHA bills person (or parent) the MMF; or

(II) is less than the person's MMF, then the LMHA bills the person (or parent) the total amount applied toward the MMF.

(C) Annual cost-sharing limit. If the person (or parent) has reached his/her annual cost-sharing limit (i.e., maximum out-of-pocket expense) as verified by the non-Medicare third-party coverage, then the LMHA will not bill the person (or parent) any co-payments, co-insurance, or deductibles, as applicable to the annual cost-sharing limit, for services covered by the non-Medicare third-party coverage for the remainder of the policy-year.

(4) Social Security work incentive provisions.

(A) If the person identified a payment amount for specific services in his/her approved plan utilizing Social Security work incentive provisions (i.e., Plan to Achieve Self-Sufficiency; Impairment Related Work Expense), then the LMHA bills the person the monthly account amount for the specific services up to the identified payment amount. If the monthly account amount for the specific services is greater than the identified payment amount, then the remaining balance is applied toward the person's MMF.

(B) The following amounts are added to equal the total amount applied toward the person's MMF: (i) any remaining balance as described in paragraph (4)(A) of this subsection; and (ii) the monthly account amount for services not covered by third-party coverage.

(C) If the total amount applied toward the person's MMF as described in paragraph (4)(B) of this subsection: (i) exceeds the person's MMF, then the amount is reduced to equal the MMF and the LMHA bills person (or parent) the MMF; or (ii) is less than the person's MMF, then the LMHA bills the person (or parent) the total amount applied toward the MMF.

(e) Statements.

(1) The LMHA will send to persons (and parents) who have been determined as having the ability to pay monthly or quarterly statements that include:

(A) an itemized list, at least by date and by type, of all services provided during the period;

(B) the standard charge for each service;

(C) the total charge for the period;

(D) the amount paid (or to be paid) by each funding source; and

(E) the amount to be paid by the person (or parent).

(2) Unless requested otherwise, the LMHA does not send statements to persons (or parents) who have an ability to pay if they maintain a zero balance (i.e., the person (or parent) does not currently owe any money).

(3) Unless requested otherwise, the LMHA does not send statements to persons (or parents) who have an inability to pay.

HISTORY: The provisions of this § 412.108 adopted to be effective September 1, 2002, 27 TexReg 2041; amended to be effective September 15, 2005, 30 TexReg 5806; amended to be effective February 19, 2017, 42 TexReg 561

§ 412.109. Payments, Collections, and Non-payment

(a) Payment and collection.

(1) Persons (and parents) are responsible for promptly paying all charges owed to the LMHA.

(2) The LMHAs are responsible for making reasonable efforts to collect payments from all available funding sources before accessing the department's funds to pay for persons' services.

(b) Financial hardship. If a person (or parent) claims financial hardship as provided in this subsection, then the LMHA must determine whether a significant financial change (as defined) has occurred. If a significant financial change has occurred, then the LMHA must immediately update the person's (or parent's) financial assessment as required in § 412.106(a) of this title (relating to Determination of Ability to Pay).

(1) If a person (or parent) claims, and provides documentation, that financial hardship prevents prompt payment of all charges owed, then the LMHA may arrange for the person (or parent) to pay a lesser amount each month.

(2) If a person (or parent) claims that financial hardship prevents prompt payment of all charges owed, then the LMHA must arrange for the person (or parent) to pay a lesser amount each month only if the person has third-party coverage that is neither income-based public insurance nor Medicare and the person's cost-sharing exceeds his/her MMF. The lesser amount:

(A) will be no more than the person's MMF, if the person's MMF is greater than zero; or

(B) will be no more than $ 5.00, if the person's MMF is zero.

(3) Although the person (or parent) may pay a lesser amount each month because a portion of the charges will be deferred, the person (or parent) is still responsible for paying all charges owed.

(c) Discontinuing charges to persons (or parents) for services. If the LMHA makes a decision, based on a clinical determination that is documented and includes input from the person's team, that being charged for services and receiving statements will result in a reduction in the functioning level of the person or the person's (or parent's) refusal or rejection of the needed services, then the LMHA will discontinue charging the person (or parent) for services and stop sending statements. The clinical determination must be reassessed at least every three months. If the LMHA decides to discontinue charging the person (or parent) for services, then the LMHA must develop and implement a plan to address the issues related to the person's functioning level or the person's (or parent's) refusal or rejection of the needed services.

(d) Involuntary reduction or termination of services for non-payment by person (or parent).

(1) The LMHA will address the past-due account of a person (or parent) who is not making payments to ensure reasonable efforts to secure payments are initiated with the person (or parent). For example, if the LMHA determines that non-payment is related to financial hardship, then the LMHA may assist the person (or parent) in making arrangements to pay a lesser amount each month in accordance with subsection (a)(2) of this section or if the LMHA makes a decision, based on a clinical determination that is documented and includes input from the person's team, that non-payment is related to the person's mental illness, then the person's treatment/service plan may be modified to address the non-payment.

(2) If the LMHA makes a decision, based on a clinical determination that is documented and includes input from the person's team, that non-payment is not related to the person's mental illness and, despite reasonable efforts to secure payment, the person (or parent) does not pay, then the LMHA may propose to involuntarily reduce or terminate the person's services. The LMHA may not propose to involuntarily reduce or terminate the person's services if the proposed action would cause the person's mental or physical health to be at imminent risk of serious deterioration or the LMHA is identified as being responsible for providing court-ordered outpatient services to the person.

(3) If the LMHA proposes to involuntarily reduce or terminate the person's services, then the LMHA must:

(A) maintain clinical documentation that the proposed action would not cause the person's mental or physical health to be at imminent risk of serious deterioration;

(B) provide written notification to the person (or parent) in accordance with subsection (e)(1) of this section and comply with subsection (e)(2) - (3) as initiated by the person (or parent).

(e) Notification, Appeal, and Review.

(1) Notification. The LMHA will notify the person (or parent) in writing of the proposed action (i.e., to involuntarily reduce or terminate the person's services or refer the person to his/her third-party coverage) and the right to appeal the proposed action in accordance with § 401.464 of this title (relating to Notification and Appeals Process). The notification will describe the time frames and process for requesting an appeal and include a copy of this subchapter. If the person (or parent) requests an appeal within the prescribed time frame, then the LMHA may not take the proposed action while the appeal is pending. The LMHA may take the proposed action if the person (or parent) does not request a review within the prescribed time frame.

(2) Appeal and appeal decision. The appeal is conducted in accordance with § 401.464(g) of this title. The local mental health authority will notify the person (or parent) in writing of the appeal decision in accordance with § 401.464(h) of this title and the right to have the appeal decision reviewed by the department's Mental Health and Substance Abuse Client's Rights Office (1-800-252-8154) if the person (or parent) is dissatisfied with the appeal decision. The notification must describe the time frames and process for requesting a review.

(3) Review of appeal decision. If the person (or parent) is dissatisfied with the appeal decision, then the person (or parent) may request a review by the department's Mental Health and Substance Abuse Client's Rights Office. A request for review must be submitted to the department's Mental Health and Substance Abuse Client's Rights Office, Mail Code 2019, P.O. Box 12668, Austin, TX 78751, within 10 working days of receipt of the appeal decision. If the person (or parent) requests a review within the prescribed time frame, then the LMHA may not take the proposed action while the review is pending. The LMHA may take the proposed action if the person (or parent) does not request a review within the prescribed time frame and the appeal decision upholds the decision to take the proposed action.

(A) A person (or parent) who requests a review may choose to have the reviewer conduct the review:

(i) by telephone conference with the person (or parent) and a representative from the LMHA and make a decision based upon verbal testimony made during the telephone conference and any documents provided by the person (or parent) and the LMHA; or

(ii) by making a decision based solely upon documents provided by the person (or parent) and the LMHA without the presence of any of the parties involved.

(B) The review:

(i) will be conducted no sooner than 10 working days and no later than 30 working days of receipt of the request for review unless an extension is granted by the director of the department's Mental Health and Substance Abuse Client's Rights Office;

(ii) will include an examination of the pertinent information concerning the proposed action and may include consultation with the department's Mental Health and Substance Abuse Client's Rights Office clinical staff and staff who are responsible for the policy contained in this subchapter;

(iii) will result in a final decision which will uphold, reverse, or modify the original decision to take the proposed action; and

(iv) is the final step of the appeal process for involuntarily reducing or terminating the person's services for non-payment and for referring the person to his/her third-party coverage.

(C) Within five working days after the review, the reviewer will send written notification of the final decision to the person (or parent) and the LMHA.

(D) The LMHA will take appropriate action consistent with the final decision.

(f) Prohibition of financial penalties. The LMHA may not impose financial penalties on a person (or parent).

(g) Debt collection. Local authorities must make reasonable efforts to collect debts before an account is referred to a debt collection agency. Local authorities must document their efforts at debt collection.

(1) Local authorities must incorporate into a written agreement or contract for debt collection provisions that state that both parties shall:

(A) maintain the confidentiality of the information and not disclose the identity of the person or any other identifying information; and

(B) not harass, threaten, or intimidate persons and their families.

(2) Local authorities will enforce the provisions contained in paragraph (1) of this subsection.

§ 412.754. Local Network Development

(a) Use of resources. An LMHA must maximize funds available to provide services by minimizing overhead and administrative costs and achieving purchasing efficiencies. Strategies that an LMHA must consider in achieving this objective include joint efforts with other local authorities related to authority functions, administrative activities, and service delivery.

(b) Establishing a network. Each LMHA must demonstrate a reasonable effort to establish and maintain a network of qualified providers. In developing the network, the LMHA must consider public input, ultimate cost-benefit, and client care issues to ensure individual choice and best use of public funds.

(c) Developing a plan. Each LMHA must develop a biennial (2-year) local network development plan (plan) to guide the development of the LMHA's provider network. The plan must reflect local needs and priorities and must be designed to maximize individual choice and individual access to services provided by qualified providers. The plan is a framework for network development based on a biennial assessment of provider availability and is not intended to limit procurement and contracting. LMHAs are expected to consider opportunities for network development that develop between planning periods. Such opportunities include new funding and/or services and inquiries from interested providers.

(d) Involving the PNAC. The local PNAC must be actively involved in developing the plan. The local PNAC must receive information and training related to Provider Network Development, including the provisions of this subchapter and Health and Safety Code § 533.035, § 533.03521, and § 533.0358.

§ 412.755. Conditions Permitting LMHA Service Delivery

An LMHA may only provide services if one or more of the following conditions is present.

(1) The LMHA determines that interested, qualified providers are not available to provide services in the LMHA's service area or that no providers meet procurement specifications.

(2) The network of external providers does not provide the minimum level of individual choice. a minimal level of individual choice is present if individuals and their legally authorized representatives can choose from two or more qualified providers.

(3) The network of external providers does not provide individuals with access to services that is equal to or better than the level of access in the local network, including services provided by the LMHA, as of a date determined by the department. An LMHA relying on this condition must submit the information necessary for the department to verify the level of access.

(4) The combined volume of services delivered by external providers is not sufficient to meet 100 percent of the LMHA's service capacity for each level of care identified in the LMHA's plan.

(5) Existing agreements restrict the LMHA's ability to contract with external providers for specific services during the two-year period covered by the LMHA's plan.

If the LMHA relies on this condition, the department shall require the LMHA to submit copies of relevant agreements.

(6) The LMHA documents that it is necessary for the LMHA to provide specified services during the two-year period covered by the LMHA's plan to preserve critical infrastructure needed to ensure continuous provision of services. An LMHA relying on this condition must:

(A) document that it has evaluated a range of other measures to ensure continuous delivery of services, including but not limited to those identified by the LANAC and the department at the beginning of each planning cycle;

(B) document implementation of appropriate other measures;

(C) identify a timeframe for transitioning to an external provider network, during which the LMHA shall procure an increasing proportion of the service capacity from external provider in successive procurement cycles; and

(D) give up its role as a service provider at the end of the transition period if the network has multiple external providers and the LMHA determines that external providers are willing and able to provide sufficient added service volume within a reasonable period of time to compensate for service volume lost should any one of the external provider contracts be terminated.

§ 412.756. Department Website

(a) Website maintenance. The department shall maintain a website with information about network development.

(b) Planning schedule and templates. Using input from the Local Authority Network Advisory Committee, the department will develop a biennial schedule and templates for the local network development plan and provider profile. In addition, the department will work with the LANAC to develop a list of measures that may be helpful in stabilizing the provider network and ensuring continuous delivery of services.

(c) LMHA information. The department shall post minimum service requirements and service capacity information for each local service area on its website. Service capacity information includes:

(1) the performance contract targets for the number of adults and children to be served by the LMHA;

(2) the current state funding allocation for the LMHA;

(3) the number of individuals served in each level of care in the previous fiscal year; and

(4) the demographic breakout of individuals services in the previous fiscal year.

(d) List of interested provider organizations. The department shall create and maintain a list showing the provider organizations interested in contracting with each LMHA.

(1) The department's website must allow provider organizations to submit a description of their qualifications and indicate their interest in providing services in each local service area.

(2) The website also must provide a mechanism for providers to send their information directly to LMHAs.

(3) The department shall post information submitted by interested provider organizations on the department's website. The purpose of the list of interested provider organizations is to inform procurement decisions made by LMHAs, but the list may not be interpreted as conclusive evidence of the existence of interested, qualified provider organizations for purposes of determining that procurement is required.

(e) Public access to plans. The department's website must provide public access to approved plans.

§ 412.757. Network Development Evaluation

An LMHA shall evaluate the potential for network development.

(1) The LMHA must seek and use available information to identify and contact potential provider organizations, including the list of interested provider organizations posted on the department's website.

(2) The LMHA must also consider current contractors, providers who have contacted the LMHA within the past two years, and other service providers in the local service area.

(3) If a provider has submitted printed or electronic documentation of interest, the LMHA may not eliminate the provider from consideration during the planning process without evidence that the provider:

(A) is no longer interested; or

(B) is clearly not qualified or capable of providing services in accordance with applicable state and local laws and regulations.

(4) The potential for network development exists if an LMHA has one or more provider organizations interested in providing routine outpatient or specialized services.

(5) If an LMHA identifies the potential for network development, it must develop a procurement plan. The plan shall include all opportunities for network development, except as limited by the conditions listed in § 412.755 of this title (relating to Conditions Permitting LMHA Service Delivery). This includes opportunities to add new services, new provider organizations, and/or additional capacity. An LMHA may choose to procure discrete services if it can ensure the integrity of levels of care and effective service coordination.

§ 412.758. Content of the Plan

(b) Plan content applicable to all LMHAs. All plans must include the following components.

(2) Baseline data specified by the department showing the type and quantity of services provided by the LMHA and by external providers.

(3) A description of the process the LMHA used to evaluate the potential for network development and the results of that evaluation, including any information relating to specific services or populations.

(D) the procurement method(s) to be used; and

(E) the timeline(s) for conducting the procurement.

(2) The rationale for any provision that would limit individual choice or prevent procurement of all available capacity offered by external provider organizations.

(A) The rationale must address any proposed restrictions on: (i) the type of service to be procured; (ii) the volume of services to be procured; (iii) the geographic area in which services would be procured; or (iv) the number of providers to be accepted.

(B) The rationale for limiting procurement must be based on one or more of the conditions identified in § 412.755 of this title (relating to Conditions Permitting LMHA Service Delivery).

(C) The rationale must provide a basis for the proposed level of restriction, including the volume of services to be provided by the LMHA. An LMHA may be required to submit additional data to support its rationale.

(3) A description of the strategies the LMHA would use to maximize funds available to provide services, as required in § 412.754(c) of this title (relating to Local Network Development).

(e) Amendment. If an LMHA determines it is unable to conduct the procurement as originally approved by the department, it shall submit a request for plan amendment to the department within 30 days of making the determination. HISTORY: The provisions of this § 414.753 adopted to be effective July 5, 2004, 29 TexReg 6093

§ 414.754. General Principles

(a) Participation in research that can advance scientific knowledge of mental disorders and conditions is integral to the mission of TDMHMR.

(b) TDMHMR's guiding principle for all research involving human subjects at its facilities is the protection of the personal rights, safety, well-being, privacy, and dignity of the subjects.

(1) To ensure the protection of human subjects involved in research at its facilities, TDMHMR promulgates this subchapter and adopts by reference Title 45, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 46 (Protection of Human Subjects), Subparts A, B, and D, referenced as Exhibit A in § 414.763 of this title (relating to Exhibits).

(2) To ensure ethical principles are maintained when research involving human subjects is conducted at its facilities, TDMHMR adopts by reference "The Belmont Report: Ethical Principles and Guidelines for the Protection of Human Subjects of Research, Report of the National Commission for the Protection of Human Subjects of Biomedical and Behavioral Research" (April 18, 1979), referenced as Exhibit B in § 414.763 of this title.

(3) To ensure all research undertaken at its facilities is conducted with a fundamental commitment to high ethical standards regarding the conduct of scientific research, TDMHMR adopts by reference 42 CFR Part 50, Subpart A, (Responsibility of PHS Awardee and Applicant Institutions for Dealing With and Reporting Possible Misconduct in Science), referenced as Exhibit C in § 414.763 of this title.

(4) To protect the privacy of human subjects involved in research at its facilities, TDMHMR adopts by reference the Federal Standards for Privacy of Individually Identifiable Health Information, Title 45, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 160 and Part 164, Subparts a and E, promulgated by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services pursuant to the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA).

(c) TDMHMR is committed to research conducted in a manner that is consistent with the best interests and protection of personal rights and welfare of human subjects involved in the research.

(1) An individual may not be approached to participate in a research study if the research conflicts with the individual's treatment goals.

(2) No research involving human subjects may be conducted unless the risks to human subjects are minimized and are reasonable in relation to the anticipated benefits.

(3) No undue inducement or coercion may be used to influence human subjects to participate in a research study.

(4) Unless scientifically justified, individuals may not be excluded from participating in research on the basis of personal characteristics, such as race, color, ethnicity, national origin, religion, sex, age, disability, sexual orientation, or political affiliation.

(5) Human subject participation in research studies must be equitable with measures taken to ensure the research sample is adequately representative of the population of interest. Within the population of interest subject selection procedures must offer equitable opportunity for access to participation in research and access to potential benefits of participation.

(6) Individuals receiving mental health services under an order of protective custody pursuant to the Texas Health and Safety Code, Chapter 574, may not be approached about participation in a research study involving an investigational medication or device prior to the entry of an order for temporary or extended mental health services.

(7) Research may not be conducted with human subjects who are involuntarily committed if the research involves:

(A) placebos as the primary medication therapy;

(B) medication or doses of medication as the primary medication therapy which are known to be ineffective for the targeted disorder or condition; or

(C) an investigational medication or device that is proposed to be undertaken when previous research on the medication or device with 100 human subjects or fewer has provided minimal or no documentation of the efficacy and safety of the medication or device for the population with the targeted disorder or condition.

(8) Research may not be conducted at a facility if the protocol:

(A) extends the use of a placebo or washout period unreasonably;

(B) deprives the human subject of reasonable relief; or

(C) extends a human subject's use of placebos as the primary medication therapy after the subject is discharged from the facility.

(9) Unless otherwise provided for in this subchapter, research involving human subjects may not be conducted at a facility unless:

(A) the research has been reviewed and approved by the facility's designated IRB in accordance with § 414.757 of this title (relating to Review and Approval of Proposed Research);

(B) the facility CEO has agreed to have the research conducted at the facility; and

(C) if required, the necessary assurance and certification has been submitted to the appropriate federal agency, (e.g., Health and Human Services, Food and Drug Administration) and the agency has indicated its approval.

(10) Research conducted at a facility may not hinder the facility's ability to accomplish its primary purpose.

(1) A human subject involved in research or his/her LAR is entitled to file a complaint about alleged mistreatment or other concerns relating to the research with the facility's rights officer or with any other applicable complaint mechanism in place.

(2) An individual or his/her LAR is entitled to file a complaint about violations of the Federal Standards for Privacy of Individually Identifiable Health Information (45 CFR Part 160 and Part 164, Subparts a and E) with the facility's privacy coordinator, the TDMHMR Consumer Services and Rights Protection/Ombudsman Office, or the Office for Civil Rights at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, as set forth in the Notice of Privacy Practices.

(C) The facility CEO is informed of the Central Office IRB's approval or disapproval and recommendations, if any.

(D) If the research proposal is approved by the Central Office IRB, the facility CEO considers the Central Office IRB's recommendations, if any, and either approves or disapproves the research proposal for implementation at the facility.

(E) If the research proposal is approved, the ORA is notified in writing of the CEO's and IRB's approval including copies of the IRB's meeting minutes concerning the review of the proposal, the proposal itself, and the CEO's and IRB's documentation of approval.

(4) Central Office IRB as a facility's designated IRB for research studies involving multiple facilities. When a facility's CEO requests that the Central Office IRB act as its designated IRB for a research study involving multiple facilities, pursuant to § 414.755(c) of this title, then the research review and documentation process is generally as follows.

(A) The research proposal is reviewed and approved by:

(i) each facility CEO;

(ii) the Central Office IRB; and

(iii) the appropriate Central Office director(s), (i.e., director of state mental health facilities or director of state mental retardation facilities).

(B) If the research proposal is approved by the facility CEOs, the Central Office IRB, and the appropriate Central Office director(s), the ORA is notified in writing of the approval, including copies of the IRB's meeting minutes concerning the review of the proposal, the proposal itself, and documentation of approval of the CEOs and the Central Office IRB.

(f) In addition to approval by the designated IRB and facility CEO, review and approval by the TDMHMR medical director is required for any research proposal involving:

(1) a placebo as the primary medication therapy;

(2) medication or doses of medication as the primary medication therapy which are known to be ineffective for the targeted disorder or condition; or

(3) an investigational medication or device.

(g) The review process for proposed research may require additional steps as necessary, (e.g., in the event a proposal is initially rejected).

(h) The facility CEO or designee is responsible for ensuring that all key researchers are qualified to perform any clinical duties assigned to them and are knowledgeable of TDMHMR's rules governing the care and protection of individuals as described in § 414.764(5) of this title (relating to References).

§ 414.758. Informed Consent

Requirements for approval of proposed research.

(1) The procedures for obtaining and documenting informed consent meet the requirements in 45 CFR § 46.116 and § 46.117, referenced as Exhibit a in § 414.763 of this title (relating to Exhibits), and adequately address:

(A) any extension of the subject's length of stay at the facility as a result of participation in the research;

(B) if the research involves an investigational medication or device, the subject's ability to receive the medication or device after the research has concluded;

(C) whether the research involves the use of a placebo and the likelihood of assignment to the placebo condition;

(D) whether the research involves medication or doses of medication which are known to be ineffective for the targeted disorder or condition and the likelihood of assignment to such medication or doses of medication; and

(E) any risk of deterioration in the subject's condition and the potential consequences of such deterioration (e.g., an extension in the length of stay, the use of interventions such as restraint, seclusion, or emergency medications).

(2) For research protocols that present greater than minimal risk, there are procedures to ensure prospective human subjects are adequately assessed for capacity to consent and:

(A) provide for a qualified professional, who is independent of the research study, to assess prospective human subjects for capacity to consent;

(B) describe who will conduct the assessments; and

(C) describe the nature of the assessment and justification if less formal procedures to assess capacity will be used.

(3) If minors are the proposed human subjects, the requirements in 45 CFR § 46.408 (concerning Requirements for Permission by Parents or Guardians and for Assent by Children) have been met.

(4) There are procedures to ensure that:

(A) before obtaining consent, each prospective human subject or the subject's LAR understands the information provided; and

(B) if consent is obtained from the subject's LAR, attempts are made, to the extent possible given the prospective subject's capacity, to obtain the subject's assent to participation.

(5) There are adequate safeguards to minimize the possibility of coercion or undue influence. For example, the possible advantages of the subject's participation in the research may not be so valuable as to impair the subject's ability to weigh the risks of the research against those advantages. Possible advantages within the limited choice environment of a facility may include enhancement of general living conditions, medical care, quality of food, or amenities; opportunity for earnings; or change in commitment status.

(6) There are procedures to ensure that a prospective human subject's objection to enrollment in research or a human subject's objection to continued participation in a research protocol is heeded in all circumstances, regardless of whether the subject or the subject's LAR has given consent. Objection may be conveyed verbally, in writing, behaviorally, or by other indications or means. The procedures may, however, provide for a key researcher, with approval of the LAR (if appropriate) and acting with a level of sensitivity to avoid the possibility or the appearance of coercion, to approach an individual who has previously objected to ascertain whether the individual has changed his/her mind or to approach an individual who has not given consent to ascertain whether the individual wants to enroll in the research protocol.

(7) Because informed consent is an ongoing process, there are procedures to ensure that, throughout the course of the research study, human subjects' comprehension and capacity are assessed and enhanced.

§ 414.759. Research Involving Offenders as Human Subjects

(a) Definition of offender. "Offender" means any individual involuntarily confined or detained in a penal institution, including:

(1) individuals sentenced to a penal institution under criminal or civil statute;

(2) individuals detained in other facilities by virtue of statutes or commitment procedures that provide alternatives to criminal prosecution or incarceration in a penal institution; and

(3) individuals detained pending arraignment, trial, or sentencing.

(b) IRB membership. In addition to the requirements in § 414.755(d) of this title (relating to Designated Institutional Review Board (IRB)), membership of an IRB that will review proposed research involving offenders or alleged offenders as human subjects must include at least one member who is an offender advocate or representative with appropriate background and experience to serve in that capacity.

(c) Permitted research. Research at a facility may involve offenders or alleged offenders as human subjects only if, in the judgment of the designated IRB, the proposed research involves solely the following:

(1) study of the possible causes, effects, and processes of criminal commitment or criminal confinement, or of criminal behavior, provided that the study presents no more than minimal risk and no more than inconvenience to the subjects;

(2) study of facilities as institutional structures or of individuals criminally committed to a facility, provided that the study presents no more than minimal risk and no more than inconvenience to the subjects;

(3) research on conditions particularly affecting individuals criminally committed to a facility as a class; or

(4) research on treatments or practices, both innovative and accepted, which have the intent and reasonable probability of improving the health or well-being of the subjects.

HISTORY: The provisions of this § 414.759 adopted to be effective July 5, 2004, 29 TexReg 6093

§ 414.760. Using and Disclosing Protected Health Information (PHI) in Research

(a) Except as provided by this section, in order to use or disclose protected health information (PHI), an authorization is required that:

- (1) conforms with the requirements of 45 CFR § 164.508; and
- (2) if the research includes treatment, includes a statement that the subject's right to access his or her PHI created or obtained during the course of research may be temporarily suspended for as long as the research is in progress, and will be reinstated upon completion of the research.

(b) During the review of proposed research, the designated IRB has the authority to approve a waiver or alteration of the authorization requirement in accordance with 45 CFR § 164.512(i).

(c) The designated IRB has the authority to approve the use or disclosure of PHI for purposes preparatory to research if the IRB obtains from the researcher adequate representations as required by 45 CFR § 164.512(i)(1)(ii).

(d) For a research study approved prior to April 14, 2003, the PHI of a human subject participating in the study may be used or disclosed for the research study if one of the following was obtained prior to April 14, 2003:

- (1) an authorization or other express legal permission from the subject or the subject's LAR to use or disclose PHI for the research study;
- (2) informed consent of the subject to participate in the research study or informed consent from the subject's LAR for the subject to participate in the research study; or
- (3) a waiver of informed consent by the designated IRB for the research study.

§ 414.761. Investigation of Allegations of Misconduct in Science

(a) All research undertaken at facilities shall be conducted with a fundamental commitment to high ethical standards regarding the conduct of scientific research.

(b) Reports of alleged misconduct in science are made to the ORA, who shall ensure that:

- (1) each allegation is reviewed and investigated by an appropriate entity in accordance with 42 CFR 50, Subpart A, referenced as Exhibit C in § 414.763 of this title (relating to Exhibits);
- (2) the investigating entity submits to the ORA information documenting the disposition of each allegation; and
- (3) the following are notified of confirmed incidents of misconduct in science:
 - (A) the IRB that approved the research protocol; and
 - (B) the agency funding the research.

*Subchapter A.Prescribing of Psychoactive Medication§ 415.1. Purpose

(a) The purpose of this subchapter is to establish standards for prescribing psychoactive medication to patients served by the state mental health and mental retardation system in Texas.

(b) This subchapter is not a clinical guide to prescribing psychoactive medication and is not the only source of information concerning related issues of appropriate practice.

(c) Accepted guidelines, as defined in § 415.3 of this title (relating to Definitions) supplement the use of this subchapter.

HISTORY: The provisions of this § 415.1 adopted to be effective August 31, 2004, 29 TexReg 8325

§ 415.2. Application

(a) The provisions of this subchapter apply to the employees and contractors of:

- (1) the facilities of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation (TDMHMR); and
- (2) TDMHMR local authorities.

(b) The provisions of this subchapter may not apply to prescribing practice in research projects that have been approved in accordance with TDMHMR's policies and procedures concerning the review and approval of research involving human subjects.

HISTORY: The provisions of this § 415.2 adopted to be effective August 31, 2004, 29 TexReg 8325

§ 415.3. Definitions

The following words and terms, when used in this subchapter, have the following meanings:

(1) Accepted guidelines—The Texas Implementation of Medication Algorithms (TIMA) or an alternative guideline formally approved in writing by the TDMHMR medical director. In cases in which none are formally approved, current professionally recognized clinical guidelines or accepted standards of care are considered the accepted guidelines.

(2) Child psychiatrist—A physician who is certified by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology and holds a subspecialty certificate in child and adolescent psychiatry, or who is board eligible, i.e., has an active approved application on file in the board office, or who is currently in training in an approved residency and is supervised by a board eligible or board-certified child and adolescent psychiatrist.

(3) DSM—The current edition of The Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders published by the American Psychiatric Press.

(4) Legally authorized representative (LAR)—A person authorized by law to act on behalf of an individual with regard to a matter described in this subchapter, who may be a parent, guardian, or managing conservator of a minor, or the guardian of an adult.

(5) Local authority (LA)—The entity designated by TDMHMR to plan, facilitate, coordinate, and ensure the provision of services to individuals with mental illness or mental retardation.

(6) Medication error—Any preventable event that may cause or lead to inappropriate medication use or patient harm while the medication is in the control of the health care professional.

(7) Physician—A doctor of medicine or osteopathy who holds a current license or institutional permit to practice medicine in Texas.

(8) Plan of care—The written document specifying how comprehensive care of the person with mental illness or mental retardation is to be carried out (sometimes called the “multidisciplinary treatment plan” or “interdisciplinary plan of care”).

(9) Polypharmacy—Concurrent use of more than one psychoactive medication having identical or very similar mechanisms of action.

(10) Prescribing professional—A physician or other health care professional who, as authorized by statute, may prescribe under the supervision of a physician.

(11) PRN—As needed (pro re nata).

(12) Psychiatric emergency—A situation in which, in the opinion of the physician, it is immediately necessary to administer medication to a patient to ameliorate the signs and symptoms of that patient’s mental illness and to prevent:

(A) imminent probable death or substantial bodily harm to the patient because the patient:

(i) overtly or continually is threatening or attempting to commit suicide or serious bodily harm; or

(ii) is behaving in a manner that indicates that the patient is unable to satisfy the patient’s need for nourishment, essential medical care, or self-protection; or

(B) imminent physical or emotional harm to others, because of threats, attempts, or other acts the patient makes or commits.

(13) Psychiatrist—A physician who is certified by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology or who is board eligible, i.e., has an active approved application on file in the board office, or a physician who is currently in training in such a program and is supervised by a board eligible or board certified psychiatrist.

(14) Psychoactive medication—Medication whose primary intended therapeutic effect is to treat or ameliorate the signs or symptoms of mental disorder or to modify mood, affect, perception, or behavior, consistent with THSC, Chapter 574, Subchapter G, § 574.101.

(15) Service setting—A state mental health facility, state mental retardation facility, a local authority (LA) site, or a service site contracted to one of these entities.

(16) Team—The patient, patient’s LAR, and with the patient’s consent, the patient’s family members, and the group of professionals and direct care workers responsible for the care of the patient, sometimes called the “multidisciplinary team” or “interdisciplinary team.”

§ 415.4. Philosophy

The standard of care for psychoactive medication use in patients should not vary according to service setting. The variations in treatment should be individualized according to patient needs.

HISTORY: The provisions of this § 415.4 adopted to be effective August 31, 2004, 29 TexReg 8325

§ 415.5. General Principles

(a) All state facilities and LAs will establish and implement written policies and procedures as approved by their medical staff in accordance with this subchapter.

(b) The prescribing professional will practice within the scope of his or her license with supervision as appropriate to that license.

(c) The prescribing of psychoactive medication will be in accordance with accepted guidelines. Use of psychoactive medication that falls outside accepted guidelines may be permissible if the clinical rationale is documented in the patient record.

(d) In no case will psychoactive medication be used for punishment, for convenience of staff, as a substitute for appropriate psychosocial treatments, or in amounts that interfere with a patient’s quality of life or plan of care.

(e) The patient’s plan of care will reflect any use of psychoactive medication as part of an integrated treatment approach aimed at increasing the patient’s functioning and quality of life.

(f) The prescribing professional will document the rationale for initiating, continuing, or discontinuing psychoactive medication in the clinical record.

(g) Medications traditionally considered psychoactive may be prescribed for nonpsychiatric indications if such use is supported by accepted guidelines and the provisions of this subchapter would not apply.

(h) If a service setting must meet other standards (external or otherwise), the more stringent standards will prevail.

(i) The service setting will have policies and procedures governing the scope of practice regarding prescription of psychoactive medications when the prescribing professional is not a psychiatrist. These policies and procedures must require involvement of a psychiatrist and describe the nature, extent, and time frame of this involvement regarding the following:

(1) initiation of any psychoactive medication;

(2) significant changes in the medication regimen other than simple titration or substitution of equivalent medications;

(3) institution of polypharmacy under § 415.7(e)(4) of this title (relating to Prescribing Parameters); and

(4) prescription of any regimen that falls outside accepted guidelines, including dosing guidelines.

(j) Each service setting must ensure psychiatric consultation is available at all times.

HISTORY: The provisions of this § 415.5 adopted to be effective August 31, 2004, 29 TexReg 8325

§ 415.6. Evaluation and Diagnosis

(a) Prior to initiating psychoactive medication according to accepted guidelines, the prescribing professional will:

(1) assess and document the medical history including the chief complaint, psychiatric history, substance use history, and medication history along with medication allergies of the patient;

(2) conduct and document a mental status examination of the patient according to accepted guidelines;

(3) assess and document the current physical status and general health of the patient in detail sufficient for safe prescription of the medication contemplated and may include a reference to a physical examination conducted within the past 12 months, a physical examination by the physician, or a referral of the patient for a more thorough examination as appropriate to health status and service setting;

(4) assess and document the need for laboratory screening and other procedures to gather relevant clinical information; and

(5) make and document the psychiatric diagnosis in accordance with the DSM and within the scope of the professional's license.

(b) The prescribing professional will solicit input and discuss with the team the proposed treatment with psychoactive medication.

(c) If psychoactive medication known to cause movement disorders is contemplated, an appropriately trained and competent staff will screen the patient for abnormal involuntary movements using a standardized procedure such as the Abnormal Involuntary Movement Scale (AIMS) or Dyskinesia Identification System Condensed User Scale (DISCUS), as appropriate, and document the result of the examination prior to initiation of the medication.

(d) In a psychiatric emergency, the assessments and documentation required by this section will take place as soon as is feasible after the emergency. If the patient has already received such assessments during this treatment episode, then the prescribing professional will document only those assessments and decisions that directly relate to the emergency.

HISTORY: The provisions of this § 415.6 adopted to be effective August 31, 2004, 29 TexReg 8325

§ 415.7. Prescribing Parameters

(a) Target signs and symptoms. The prescribing professional will identify and document the target signs and symptoms along with their initial frequency and severity for each medication prescribed prior to its initial use.

(b) Choice of psychoactive medication. The prescribing professional will choose the psychoactive medication in accordance with accepted guidelines.

(c) Laboratory and screenings. The prescribing professional will identify, order, and follow up any laboratory tests, screenings, or other procedures indicated by the proposed psychoactive medication and the physical condition of the patient in accordance with accepted guidelines.

(d) Dose and route of administration. The prescribing professional will choose doses at or below the maximum doses indicated in the TDMHMR Formulary. Higher doses or unusual routes of administration may be used with documentation in the patient record of appropriate supporting clinical rationale. The use of nasogastric intubation requires consultation with a second physician with documentation of the consultation in the supporting clinical rationale.

(e) Polypharmacy. The prescribing professional will not prescribe polypharmacy as a mechanism to avoid single drug dosage recommendations, adequate monotherapy drug trials, or adequate psychosocial treatment or programming. Polypharmacy is acceptable practice when:

(1) overlapping medications are used as part of a change from one medication to another;

(2) currently prescribed medication is not available in the route most appropriate to a psychiatric emergency situation;

(3) documentation exists of inadequate patient response after simpler and safer regimens have been attempted following accepted guidelines; or

(4) accepted guidelines provide no guidance and appropriate single drug trials have failed, provided the rationale for determining the choice to prescribe polypharmacy is documented to support the situation, and:

(A) the prescribing professional is privileged through the medical staff privileging process to prescribe psychoactive medication; and

(B) the prescribing professional is a psychiatrist, or in the case of a child patient, a child psychiatrist, or consults with a psychiatrist or a child psychiatrist as appropriate prior to initiating polypharmacy.

(f) Orders not written in person. The service setting will have policies and procedures which govern orders not written in person (such as verbal, telephone, fax, or electronic orders) by the prescribing professional. These will address who may give orders, who may accept them, and how orders will be documented in the patient record. Orders will be authenticated by the prescribing professional within a time frame appropriate to the service setting as set forth in that setting's approved policies and procedures.

(g) PRN orders. The prescribing professional may write PRN orders in accordance with accepted guidelines and Chapter 414, Subchapter I of this title (relating to Consent to Treatment with Psychoactive Medication-Mental Health Services). The service setting will have policies and procedures for PRN orders that address:

(1) indications;

(2) appropriate medication classes and dosing, including maximum dose in 24 hours; and

(3) time frames for:

(A) medication administration;

(B) order duration;

(C) assessment of effectiveness;

(D) continued PRN use; and

(E) documentation standards that apply to the order itself and the assessments.

(h) Psychiatric emergency orders. The physician may order a single, immediate administration of a psychoactive medication(s) for a psychiatric emergency. The service setting will have policies and procedures for emergency use of psychoactive medications in accordance with accepted guidelines and Chapter 414, Subchapter I of this title, governing Consent to Treatment with Psychoactive Medication-

Mental Health Services, and Chapter 412, Subchapter H, governing Standards and Quality Assurance for Mental Retardation Community Services and Supports as appropriate that address:

- (1) indications;
- (2) appropriate medication classes and dosing, including maximum dose in 24 hours;
- (3) assessment of effectiveness;
- (4) patient education;
- (5) review with consideration of changing the current plan of care if a pattern of use of psychiatric emergency orders emerges; and
- (6) documentation time frames and standards that address the incident, the use of medications, and the outcome.

§ 415.8. Emergency Use of Psychoactive Medication

(a) Emergency psychoactive medications are used to treat the signs and symptoms of mental illness in a psychiatric emergency when other interventions are ineffective or inappropriate.

(b) The selection of the medication should take into account the patient's current medication regimen. Using a medication that the patient is currently prescribed is preferable, if clinically indicated.

(c) All required documentation will be entered into the patient's record as soon as the emergency abates.

HISTORY: The provisions of this § 415.8 adopted to be effective August 31, 2004, 29 TexReg 8325

§ 415.9. Consent and Patient Education

(a) Informed consent for treatment with a psychoactive medication will be obtained in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 414, Subchapter I of this title (relating to Consent to Treatment with Psychoactive Medication - Mental Health Facilities) or Chapter 405, Subchapter I of this title (relating to Consent to Treatment with Psychotropic Medication - Mental Retardation Facilities), as appropriate.

(b) The use of PRN medication requires an appropriate consent process in accordance with the provisions referred to in subsection (a) of this section.

(c) The service setting will provide individual and group medication education when appropriate to patients, their families, and LARs according to accepted guidelines (e.g., TIMA patient and family education guidelines). If accepted guidelines do not exist, the education will discuss characteristics of the medication, including expected benefits, potential adverse or side effects, dosage, standard alternative treatments, legal rights, and any questions the patient, family, or LAR may have. Education is also provided to address significant changes in the patient's medication regimen.

(d) The service setting will have policies and procedures to address medication education and documentation standards.

HISTORY: The provisions of this § 415.9 adopted to be effective August 31, 2004, 29 TexReg 8325

§ 415.10. Medication Monitoring

(a) All patients receiving psychoactive medication will receive timely ongoing face-to-face evaluation and documentation by the prescribing professional of:

- (1) data collected since the last follow-up, including data about the frequency, severity, and timing of target signs and symptoms;

(2) effectiveness of the medication in treating target signs and symptoms; and

(3) assessment for side effects and adverse effects.

(b) Using the assessment data and with input from the team, the prescribing professional will continue or alter the medication regimen to maximize the benefit to the patient.

(c) At initiation of a new medication or significant change in medication regimen, medication monitoring will occur as often as medically necessary and for the period of time needed to stabilize the clinical response. Such monitoring will occur at least weekly for one month in hospitals and crisis stabilization units (unless discharged in the interim) and at least monthly in outpatient and residential settings. Rationale for less frequent monitoring will be documented.

(d) Further minimum frequencies of medication monitoring in patients are:

(1) state mental health facility settings—monthly as described in subsections (a) and (b) of this section. Also, every 90 days, the medication monitoring includes review of consent issues and long-term consequences of psychoactive medication;

(2) state mental retardation facility settings—monthly review of data with appropriate members of the team and every third month (quarterly) face-to-face evaluation of the patient. Rationale for less frequent monitoring will be documented;

(3) LA programs—medication monitoring appointments will be scheduled quarterly as described in subsections (a) and (b) of this section. Rationale for less frequent monitoring will be documented.

(e) For medications known to cause movement disorders, appropriately trained and competent staff will screen the patient quarterly for abnormal involuntary movements using a standardized procedure such as AIMS, document the results, and arrange for any appropriate follow-up with a psychiatrist or neurologist, if indicated.

(f) Clinically significant adverse effects or side effects will be evaluated by a physician, managed according to accepted guidelines, and addressed in the plan of care.

(g) Laboratory testing or other procedures needed for the continued safe and effective use of medication will be ordered according to accepted guidelines.

(h) In any service setting that operates a pharmacy, the pharmacist will evaluate medication orders and patient medication records in accordance with the rules of the Texas State Board of Pharmacy (Texas Administrative Code, Title 22, Part 15) and will include a review for dosage range according to the TDMHMR Formulary, polypharmacy, and PRN use. The service setting will have policies and procedures in place for doing this review and the documentation and outcome of any questions arising out of this review.

§ 415.11. Special Populations

Special populations will be managed according to accepted guidelines as appropriate to their special needs.

(1) Patients with dyskinesias, including tardive dyskinesia.

(A) A diagnosis of a dyskinesia will be verified by a psychiatrist or neurologist and documented in the patient record along with suspected or known duration and severity.

(B) The patient and, as appropriate, family and LAR will receive relevant education about the diagnosis and its implications for psychoactive medication use.

(C) Risks and benefits of continued psychoactive medication use will be assessed and communicated to the patient and, as appropriate, family or LAR. If continued use is recommended, a new consent for medication will be obtained.

(D) If continued use of psychoactive medication is contemplated, then the prescribing professional, if not a psychiatrist or neurologist, must obtain and document consultation from a psychiatrist or neurologist.

(2) Children.

(A) Except in an emergency, if the prescribing professional is not a child psychiatrist, then prescribing psychoactive medication which falls outside accepted guidelines requires consultation from a child psychiatrist in addition to any other requirements.

(B) If the prescribing professional is a child psychiatrist, then use of polypharmacy is governed as indicated in § 415.7 of this title (relating to Prescribing Parameters).

(3) Patients with mental retardation.

(A) A specific psychiatric diagnosis will be made in accordance with the DSM prior to initiating psychoactive medication. If it is not possible to make a specific diagnosis in accordance with the DSM, clinical justification for initiating psychoactive medication will be documented.

(B) Except in an emergency or acute psychiatric hospitalization, psychoactive medications are prescribed only after behavioral and clinical baselines have been established.

(C) Specific target behaviors or clinical signs and quality of life outcomes must be objectively defined, quantified, and tracked using recognized empirical measurement methods appropriate to the service setting in order to monitor psychoactive medication efficacy.

(4) Patients with substance use disorders.

(A) Service settings will assess the occurrence of co-occurring psychiatric and substance use disorders during evaluations for medication, initiation of medication, and medication monitoring, and will have policies and procedures which address the assessment.

(B) Provision of medication services to this population will be in accordance with accepted guidelines for patients with these comorbid conditions and will be in collaboration and coordination with other treatments that the patient may be receiving for substance use.

(5) Pregnant or nursing patients.

(A) Informed consent for use of psychoactive medication in this population must specifically document that the risk and benefits of that use on the fetus or infant have been discussed with the patient and, as appropriate, LAR and family.

(B) Prior to prescribing psychoactive medication, the prescribing professional will seek to collaborate with the physician or clinic providing prenatal, postnatal, or pediatric care to include providing, with consent, appropriate documentation of diagnoses and plan of care to that service provider.

(6) Geriatric patients. Service settings will have policies and procedures for prescribing psychoactive medication which are responsive to the special needs of geriatric patients..

(7) Other special populations. Prescribing professionals will be aware that other populations exist that may have particular clinical or special risk factors associated with their treatment with psychoactive medications. Consultation with an appropriate specialist or expert will be considered when treating these populations.

(b) At a minimum, psychoactive medication utilization in each service setting must be reviewed and evaluated at least semiannually and strategies for improvement identified using accepted guidelines.

(c) Required areas of review include:

- (1) appropriateness of prescribing (including choice of medication, dose, and route);
- (2) documentation;
- (3) polypharmacy;
- (4) emergency use of psychoactive medication;
- (5) PRN use;

The use of proprietary names, which may follow in parentheses, is for information purposes only and is not meant to be an endorsement. Cost comparisons and prescribing information are provided as determined necessary by the Executive Formulary Committee. The DSHS/DADS Drug Formulary provides tables summarizing the recommended dosage ranges for the psychotropic drugs for clinician reference. These tables are intended as guidelines and are not intended to replace other references or the clinician's clinical judgment. Clinicians should consult the American Hospital Formulary Service Drug Information, the approved Food and Drug Administration product labeling, and other guidelines on the appropriate prescribing of psychoactive medications. The DSHS/DADS Drug Formulary notes limitations recommended by the Executive Formulary Committee regarding the use of a drug, including specific limitations or guidelines for the use of a reserve drug.

§ 415.256. Mechanical Restraint Devices

(a) If a facility's policies and procedures permit the use of mechanical restraint, only commercially available or DSHS-approved devices specifically designed for the safe and comfortable restraint of humans shall be used. Any alteration of commercially available devices or independent development of devices must:

(1) be based on the individual's special physical needs, if any (e.g., obesity or physical impairment);

(2) take into consideration any potential medical (including psychiatric) contraindications, including any history of physical or sexual abuse;

(3) be approved by a committee whose membership and functions are specified in the bylaws of medical staff members of the facility; and

(4) be described fully in writing, with a copy of the description and a photograph forwarded to the DSHS medical director for behavioral health for review. Such altered or independently developed device may not be used by the facility unless and until its use is approved, in writing, by the DSHS medical director for behavioral health.

(b) A staff member shall inspect a device before and after each use to ensure that it is clean, in good repair, and is free from tears or protrusions that may cause injury.

Damaged devices shall not be used to restrain an individual and shall be repaired or discarded.

(c) Regardless of their commercial availability, the following types of devices shall not be used to implement a restraint:

(1) those with metal wrist or ankle cuffs;

(2) those with rubber bands, rope, cord, or padlocks or key locks as fastening devices;

(3) long ties (e.g., leashes);

(4) bed sheets;

(5) gags;

(6) spit hoods, or anything that obstructs an individual's airway, including a device that places anything in, on, or over the individual's mouth or nose; and

(7) strait jackets.

(d) Except as otherwise permitted in this subsection, all forms of restraint, as well as a form of restraint in conjunction with seclusion, are intended to be used independently of one another. The physician shall document the clinical justification in the individual's medical record for the simultaneous use of more than one mechanical restraint device, a mechanical restraint device and personal restraint, a mechanical restraint device and seclusion, or personal restraint and seclusion.

(e) The following are approved mechanical restraint devices.

(1) Anklets—Padded bands of cloth or leather that are secured around the individual's ankles or legs using hook-and-loop (e.g., Velcro(R)) or buckle fasteners and attached to a stationary object (e.g., bed or chair frame). The device shall not be secured so tightly as to interfere with circulation, or so loosely as to permit chafing of the skin.

(2) Arm splints or elbow immobilizers—Strips of any material with padding that extend from below to above the elbow and which are secured around the arm with ties or hook-and-loop (e.g., Velcro(R)) tabs. If appropriate under the circumstances, they shall be secured so that the individual has full use of the hands. The device shall not be secured so tightly as to interfere with circulation, or so loosely as to permit chafing of the skin.

(3) Belts—A cloth or leather band that is fastened around the waist and secured to a stationary object (e.g., chair frame) or used for securing the arms to the sides of the body. The device shall not be secured so tightly as to interfere with breathing or circulation.

(4) Camisole—A sleeveless cloth jacket that covers the arms and upper trunk and is secured behind the individual's back. The device shall not be secured so tightly as to interfere with breathing or circulation or to cause muscle strain. Staff members shall exercise caution when using this device, if at all, because it may impair balance and the individual's ability to break a fall.

(5) Chair restraint—A padded stabilized chair that supports all body parts and prevents the individual's voluntary egress from the chair without assistance (e.g., tabletop chair, Geri-chair). When wristlets or anklets are used to restrict movement from the chair, the devices must not be secured so tightly as to interfere with breathing or circulation.

(6) Enclosed bed—A bed with high side rails or another type of side enclosure and, in some cases, an enclosure (e.g., mesh or rails) over the bed that prevents the individual's voluntary egress from the bed without assistance.

(7) Helmet—A plastic, foam rubber, or leather head covering, such as a sports helmet, that may include an attached face guard but does not include a spit guard that interferes with breathing or obstructs the airway. The device shall be the proper size and the chinstrap shall not be so tight as to interfere with breathing or circulation.

(8) Mittens—A cloth, plastic, foam rubber, or leather hand covering such as boxing and other types of sport gloves that are secured around the wrist or lower arm with elastic, hook-and-loop (e.g., Velcro(R)) tabs, ties, paper tape, pull strings, buttons, or snaps. The device shall not be secured so tightly as to interfere with circulation.

(9) Restraining net—Mesh fabric that is placed over an individual's upper and lower trunk with the head, arms, and lower legs exposed; the net shall be secured over a mattress to a bed frame and shall never be placed over the individual's head. The restraining net shall be loose enough to allow some movement. The device shall not be secured so tightly as to interfere with breathing or circulation.

(10) Restraint bed—A stretcher of steel frame construction with a fabric cover. The restraint bed shall have an adjustable backrest and a padded mat which shall be used under the individual's head and upper body to prevent injury. Approved wristlets, anklets, and belts shall be used to safely and securely limit the individual's physical activity.

(11) Restraint board—A padded, rigid board to which an individual is secured face-up, unless that position is clinically contraindicated for that individual, in which case a clinically indicated position will be used and documented. This device shall not be used to restrain an individual in a behavioral emergency except when necessary to promptly transport an individual to another location.

(12) Restraint chair or gurney—A chair or gurney manufactured for the purpose of transporting or restraining an individual.

(13) Ties—A length of cloth or leather used to secure approved mechanical restraints (e.g., mittens, wristlets, arm splints, belts, anklets, vests) to a stationary object (e.g., bed or wheelchair frame) or to another approved mechanical restraint. Ties shall not be secured so tightly as to interfere with breathing or circulation.

(14) Transport jacket—A heavy canvas sleeveless jacket that encases the arms and upper trunk, fastens with hook-and-loop (e.g., Velcro(R)) tabs and roller buckles, and is held in place with a strap between the legs. The device shall be used only as a temporary measure during transport.

(15) Vest—A sleeveless cloth jacket that covers the upper trunk and is fastened in the back or front with ties or hook-and-loop tabs (e.g., Velcro(R)). The vest may be secured to a stationary object (e.g., bed or chair frame). The vest and ties shall not be secured so tightly as to interfere with breathing or circulation.

(16) Wristlets—Padded cloth or leather bands that are secured around the individual's wrists or arms using hook-and-loop (e.g., Velcro(R)) or buckle fasteners and attached to a stationary object (e.g., bed frame, chair frame, or waist belt). The device shall not be secured so tightly as to interfere with circulation or so loosely as to permit chafing of the skin.

§ 415.273. Use of Restraint in Situations Involving Non-violent, Non-self-destructive Behavior

(a) If an assessment reveals non-violent, non-self-destructive behavior, as defined in §415.253 of this title (relating to Definitions), the facility shall use the least restrictive intervention that effectively protects the individual from harm. If the intervention is a restraint as defined in this subchapter, it shall only be used in the following circumstances:

(f) The care of the individual shall be based on a rationale that reflects consideration of the individual's medical needs and health status.

(1) If the facility has made a clinical determination that its use of restraint for the management of non-violent, non-self-destructive behavior requires a frequency of assessment or an aspect of care or treatment that differs from the provisions of this subchapter governing restraint in a behavioral emergency, facility policies and procedures on the use of restraint for the management of non-violent, non-self-destructive behavior shall address:

(A) the facility's required frequency of assessment of the individual during restraint; and

(B) how the individual's circulation, hydration, elimination, level of distress and agitation, mental status, cognitive functioning, cardiac functioning, skin integrity, nutrition, exercise, and range of motion of extremities are to be assessed and addressed during restraint.

(2) The plan for monitoring the individual and the rationale for the frequency of monitoring shall be documented in the individual's medical record.

(d) Immobilization during medical, dental, diagnostic, or surgical procedure. a positioning or securing device used to maintain the position of, limit mobility of, or temporarily immobilize an individual, with the individual's consent, during medical, dental, diagnostic, or surgical procedures and that is a standard part of the procedure is not considered a restraint. The care of the individual shall be based on a rationale that reflects consideration of the individual's medical needs and health status.

(1) Facility policies and procedures on the use of immobilization during medical, dental, diagnostic and surgical procedures shall address:

(A) the frequency of assessment of the individual during immobilization; and

(B) how the individual's circulation, hydration, elimination needs, level of distress and agitation, mental status, cognitive functioning, cardiac functioning, skin integrity, nutrition, exercise, and range of motion of extremities are to be assessed during immobilization.

(D) A decision by the individual to decline to begin, or remain in, clinical timeout or similar interventions may not result in the staff member's use of restraint or seclusion of the individual, unless the initiation and use of the restraint or seclusion is permitted under, and otherwise meets the requirements of, this subchapter. to physically force or use personal restraint or coercion to direct the individual to a clinical timeout areas or to prevent an individual from leaving an area separated from other individuals receiving services, constitutes a restraint and/or seclusion and renders the procedure subject to the requirements for restraint or seclusion, as applicable, described in this subchapter.

(2) Quiet time. An individual may request the use of quiet time and, unless clinically contraindicated, be granted quiet time.

(A) Under no circumstances may a staff member mandate quiet time for an individual. If the department determines that one or more of the services specified in the IPC do not meet the requirements described in subsection (b) of this section, the department may deny, reduce, or terminate the service, modify the IPC, and send written notification to the child or adolescent, LAR, and the provider.

HISTORY: The provisions of this § 87.101 adopted to be effective January 10, 2019, 44 TexReg 252

§ 87.103. Creation of the Office and Populations Served

(a) OO is established by Texas Government Code § 531.0171.

(1) OO has authority and responsibility over the HHS system in:

(A) providing dispute resolution services;

(B) performing consumer protection and advocacy functions; and

(C) collecting consumer contact data.

(2) OO is responsible for a standard process for tracking and reporting consumer contacts within the HHS system, including centralized tracking of consumer contacts submitted to field, regional, or other local offices.

(b) HHSC's Compact With Texans outlines customer service principles and standards, including a complaint process for consumers. As part of that process, a consumer is directed to first contact the HHS program for which they have an inquiry or a complaint. If the concern is not resolved to the consumer's satisfaction, the consumer is directed to contact OO. In accordance with HHSC's Compact With Texans, OO is committed to providing high quality services in a professional and ethical manner by:

(1) treating consumers with courtesy and respect;

(2) ensuring access to and provision of services is fair and equitable;

(3) implementing new and creative approaches to improve quality of services;

(4) operating based on consumers' overall needs and feedback;

(5) providing understandable information in a variety of formats;

(6) ensuring sound management of programs and funds;

(7) working in cooperation with consumers; and

(8) protecting private information and sharing public information in accordance with applicable laws.

(c) In accordance with Texas Government Code § 531.0171(b), OO does not have authority to process case actions or overturn HHS program decisions. OO staff also cannot give legal advice.

(d) OO strives to adhere to the United States Ombudsman Association's government ombudsman standards by:

(1) maintaining independence from HHS programs through an organizational structure that has OO report to the HHSC Executive Commissioner through a separate chain of command than program staff;

(2) remaining impartial by receiving and reviewing each contact in an objective and fair manner, free from bias, and treating all parties without favor or prejudice;

(3) maintaining discretion to keep confidential or release information related to a contact or a complaint investigation, if authorized by a consumer to do so; and

(4) providing a credible review process by performing responsibilities in a manner that engenders respect, confidence, and accessibility to all consumers.

(e) Several ombudsman programs are part of OO.

(1) The Ombudsman Managed Care Assistance Team (OMCAT) provides support and information services to persons enrolled in or applying for Medicaid who experience barriers to receiving health care services, in accordance with Texas Government Code § 531.0213. Administrative rules for this program can be found in Subchapter B of this chapter (relating to Ombudsman Managed Care Assistance).

(2) The Ombudsman for Children and Youth in Foster Care (FCO) established by Texas Government Code Chapter 531, Subchapter Y, as enacted by Senate Bill 830 (84th Legislature, Regular Session, 2015). Administrative rules for this program can be found in Subchapter C of this chapter (relating to Ombudsman for Children and Youth in Foster Care).

(3) The Ombudsman for Behavioral Health access to care (OBH) established by Texas Government Code § 531.02251. Administrative rules for this program can be found in Subchapter D of this chapter (relating to Behavioral Health Ombudsman).

(4) The State Long-term Care Ombudsman authorized by Texas Human Resources Code Subchapter F of Chapter 101a; 42 USC 3058f and 3058g; and 45 CFR Part 1324. (b) Each complaint is investigated to determine if HHS policy was followed by HHS staff and vendors contracted to provide services on behalf of an HHS program. Applicable policies include federal and state law, administrative rules, program handbooks, contracts, and internal program policies and procedures.

(c) OO staff consider the following when investigating a complaint:

(1) Legal authority. What is the basis of the HHS program's decision, and was the decision made within the scope of that authority?

(3) Agreed expectations. Did the HHS program follow through after agreeing to take particular actions, and did the program provide an adequate explanation of decisions?
